William Shakespeare

All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players: they have their exits and their entrances; and one man in his time plays many parts, his acts being seven ages.

Emily Dickinson

*Hope is the thing with feathers
That perches in the soul
And sings the tune without the words
And never stops - at all -*

Queen Elizabeth II

Families, friends and communities often find a source of courage rising up from within. Indeed, sadly, it seems that it is tragedy that often draws out the most and the best from the human spirit.

Coco Chanel

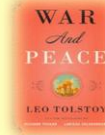

Fashion is not something that exists in dresses only. Fashion is in the sky, in the street, fashion has to do with ideas, the way we live, what is happening.

Charles Dickens

The whole difference between construction and creation is exactly this: that a thing constructed can only be loved after it is constructed; but a thing created is loved before it exists.

Leo Tolstoy

We can know only that we know nothing. And that is the highest degree of human wisdom.

Constantin Brâncuși

Things are not difficult to make; what is difficult is putting ourselves in the state of mind to make them.

J.D. Salinger

Certain things, they should stay the way they are. You ought to be able to stick them in one of those big glass cases and just leave them alone.

Leo Buscaglia

Too often we underestimate the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, a listening ear, an honest compliment, or the smallest act of caring, all of which have the potential to turn a life around.

Maya Angelou

I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel.
